

INVITATION

We invite you to the training

Intercultural Work and Communication

Date: 03. November 2018

Time: 10:00 – 16:00 Hours

Place: EVA Evangelisches Frauenbegegnungszentrum, Saalgasse 15, 60311 Frankfurt am

Intercultural work and communication are becoming more and more important as so-called "soft skills" in today's increasingly finely segmented society. Not only it helps us in our professional life, but also in our everyday dealings with colleagues and neighbors. Intercultural awareness and acquisition of intercultural competence gives us a huge advantage when we are dealing with "Strangers and others" and helps us adopt a more self-confident attitude.

In this training, migrant women* will be acquainted with further concepts of intercultural sensitization. First, theoretical aspects of intercultural work and communication will be presented, and then interactively demonstrated through auditory and visual perception skills.

Our speaker for the event is Aida Ben Achour who was born in Frankfurt am Main on 5 November 1969. She studied Society and Business Communication and Politics and Sociology at the Berlin University of the Arts. Her research focus was on remembrance cultures and political communication in North Africa. She is a certified communication host and certified intercultural trainer according to dgikt (German Society for Intercultural Trainings). She is also active as an appraiser for various political and social institutions, among others like GIZ (Deutsche Gesellschaft für Internationale Zusammenarbeit).

Travel expenses of the participants* (max 8 Euro per person) will be paid on presentation and submission of the ticket. Meals and child care during the event will be provided. If you want to take advantage of childcare, please inform us about the same while registering for the event.

We look forward to seeing you at the event!
